Who likes playing games online?

Do you play your games on a...

Phone?

Tablet?

Laptop?

Console?

Computer?

How should you behave online?

Why is it important to be kind online?

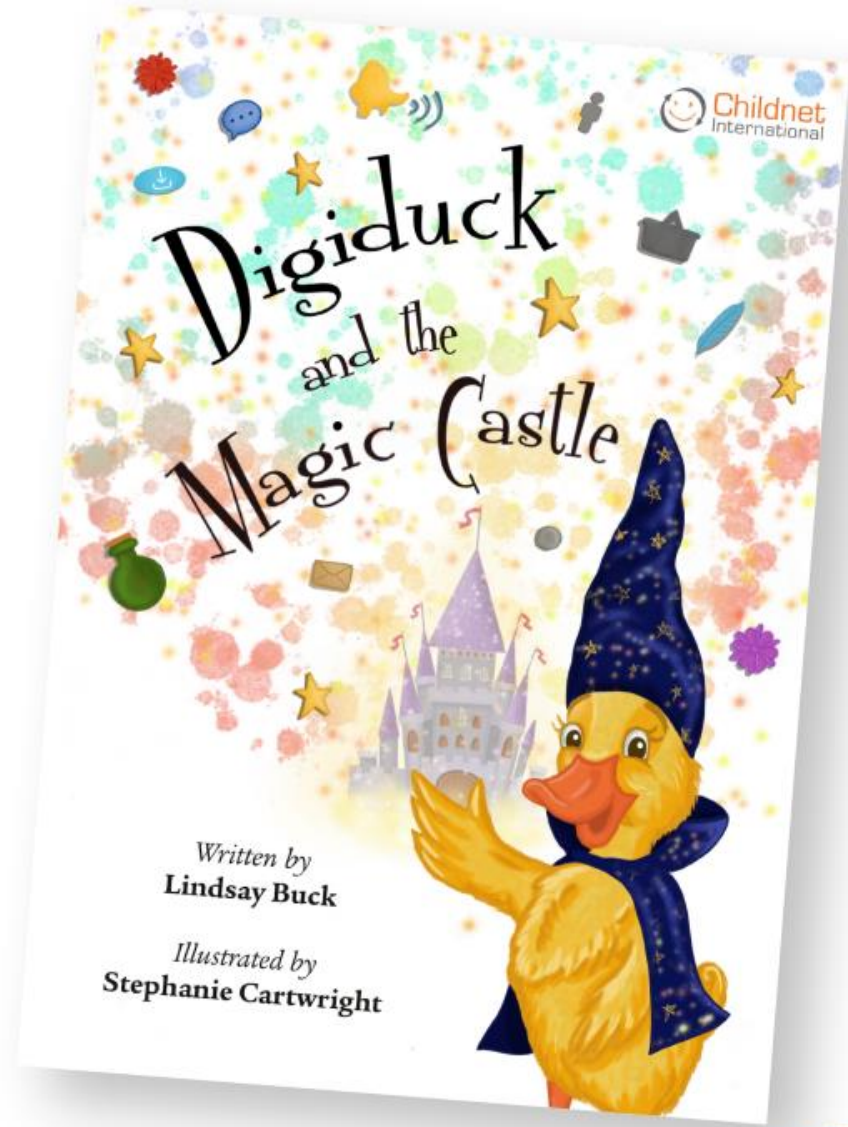

Should you behave the same way online, that you do offline? And why?

If you're online and no one knows who you are, can you behave however you want?

You will read the story Digiduck and the Magic Castle in class. Let me know what you think!

Additional questions...

- Do you talk to family or friends online? How?
- Can you think of any apps, websites or online games that let people talk to each other who don't know each other in person?
- What facts about yourself should you not tell to strangers online and offline? What can we call all these facts?
- Which adults would you ask for help if something worried you online?
- It is quite normal to disagree with your friends sometimes! If you have ever argued with a friend (online or or offline), how did you make it better?
